First Week of Institute Closes With Delightful Picnic; Many Educators in Attendance on Meetings.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Carlsbad, N. M., June 22.—The Lincoln county teachers' institute which convened here Monday of last week, closed its first week's work with a picnic at the malpais, a diversion extended the visitors by the ladies of the Civic league. The institute has another week of work, its final meeting being held next Saturday. Prof. J. S. Hofer, of the Tucuman public schools, is conducting the work, assisted by Mrs. E. V. Jewett of the Carlsbad high school, while Miss Eva Felton, recently with the Flagstaff, Ariz., high school has charge of the primary work, which she demonstrates with a "model class" of nine children. ### League Takes Vacation.

The civic leagues at its regular meeting last week, voted to take a vacation until fall. The ladies have been working industriously on the improvements planned at their spring reorganization, and with this work accomplished, they feel they are entitled to a rest during the summer months. The report of the secretary, Mrs. Arthur J. Rolland, was presented to the members and shows what the cemetery improvements have cost. The detailed report is as follows:

Receipts—Balance on hand, March 22, 1915, does, $22; solicited by Mrs. James Lacey and Oshorn, $36.75; solicited by Mrs. Frank Sager, $54.90; from a supper under the direction of Mrs. George Dinkwall, $23.05; from sale of pennants, $10; from entertainment by school children under direction of Mrs. H. B. Hamilton, $14; from concert under direction of Mrs. Robert Lucas, $21.20, making a total of $206.90. This sum was disbursed to workmen and for material in improving the local cemetery.

The coke and fruit shipments now passing over the Southwestern railroad have been hailed with joy by the employees of the road, some of whom have been on the waiting list for some time. Just now every available man is pressed into service in order to handle the business.

SOCIAL CENTER PLAN IN FOLSOM PROVES BIG HIT

Board of Education Turns Over School Building for Amusement Purposes to People of the Community.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Folsom, N. M., June 22.—Folsom has something perhaps unique, and certainly novel, in the way of social affairs.

The civil and municipal forces of the town, aided by some of its influential citizens, have been seriously considering for some time, the problem of providing clean and wholesome amusement for its young people, and have at last evolved a plan which it is believed will furnish the idea for a great many other towns and villages too small to afford or support the modern amusements of the city.

With this end in view, the Pastime Social club, of Folsom, has been organized, and civil and municipal authorities are co-operating with it for the promotion of clean and wholesome amusement. The operating plan is as follows:

The board of education along these lines, and in conjunction with other forces interested in this movement, have thrown open the doors of the school building during the summer months for the use of the club, the membership of which is entirely democratic, no one of good behavior being barred, the school board arguing that the school building belongs to the public, and that any movement which benefits the public who build and support the schools should receive the support of the board, and that the building should be used for public purposes so long as property is not abused.

Small Membership Fee.

The members of the club each pay a small membership fee, which entitles each to a season ticket for the summer months, or until school opens. A player piano has been rented, and the members take turns about furnishing the music for dancing, which so far has been the principal amusement. It is planned later not to add other entertainment features, such as literary and musical numbers and intermezzi to the dance numbers. No clean amusement of any kind is barred, and the club has outdoor sports, including a tennis court and croquet grounds. The dances and evening entertainments are under the supervision of elder members of the club, who have taken an interest in promoting the organization.

The principal features of the new idea are its democracy and its economy. The small cost of operation makes it possible to have a low membership fee, two or three dollars, for a season ticket, which insures a number of meetings. The club's membership at present includes teachers, business and professional men, working people and, in fact, nearly all the respectable people of the town, with the exception of church members, who, it is understood, are much opposed to the plan. It is planned to overcome this opposition, to a large extent, by inviting the church people to send representatives to the social meetings, and generally co-operate for the social advancement of the town.

It is believed that after the plan becomes better known, and if results continue as good as achieved from its operation, so far, civil and social authorities generally will take it up.

BIG MURDER RECORD MARS STATE ANNALS

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Santa Fe, June 22.—A careful examination of New Mexico newspapers on file in the historical and archaeological rooms discloses that since Year 118 murders have been committed in New Mexico, a number, it is believed, unprecedented in the history of the state, for any similar period of time. The same ratio maintained throughout the year would mean that one of every 1,500 inhabitants will be murdered and in fifty years, the length of an average lifetime, it would mean that one of every thirty inhabitants is destined to die from the violence of a fellow man.

On the other hand convictions for murder are fewer than for many years and in many counties no hanging has taken place for decades. If the statements in the local papers referring to each murder are true, then three-quarters of them must be ascribed to drunkenness.

Visitors to Museum.

RURAL DIRECTORS AND TEACHERS GET MUCH GOOD FROM MEETING

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Santa Fe, June 22.—The model directors' meeting today at the summer school and county institute proved to be a most interesting and instructive event. Rural school directors from all over the county were in attendance as were also more than a hundred teachers. Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction Filadelfo Baca presided, Rupert F. Asplund, editor of the New Mexico Educational Journal was secretary, and Mrs. Nora Brumback, conductor of the institute, was the third member of the board.

The retiring teacher of the district was summoned before the board to explain why with an enrollment of 30, the average attendance had been only 11. He had been a good teacher and had resigned to go to another district at a better salary. The colloquy was most enlightening and at times humorous.

The board then proceeded to hire a new teacher and finally selected Miss Dorothy White from among the six applicants for her special fitness and adaptation to the environment. The new teacher and the retiring teacher then formally planned the work for the ensuing year and the plans were ratified by the board.

The contract for wood was let after a spirited debate. The various reports to be made to the department of education were discussed, the manner of filling out warrants and other technical matters were then exemplified. The improvement of the schoolhouse, school gardening and manual training were discussed.

Franciscan Friars DID NOT WEAR BROWN

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Santa Fe, June 22.—Col. Ralph E. Twitchell, the New Mexico historian, has recently looked up a large number of authorities on the work of the Franciscan Friars in New Mexico and to his astonishment found that instead of the "brown" habit ascribed to them, they wore gray. Typical of the authorities is that of Friar Marcos de Niza, who in his report on his coming to New Mexico says:

"And I wore a dress of gray cloth called Saragosa, which Francisco de Coronado, governor of New Galicia, ordered for me, and the lord of this pueblo and other Indians touched the habit with their hands and said to me that there was of the stuff in Totonac and that the natives there dressed in it, at which I laughed and said if it was not one of those cotton robes which they wore and they told me: 'Do you think that we do not know that what you wear and what we wear is different?' I know then, that in Cibola all the houses are full of this clothing that you wear; but in Totonac these are some small animals from which they clip that from which this stuff is made. I was astonished, because I had not heard any such thing until I arrived here, and desired to be informed very particularly about it, and they told me that the animals are of the size of grayhounds of Castile that Estevan carried along. They say that there are many of them in Totonac, I could not ascertain what species of animal they were." Col. Twitchell says they were jack rabbits.

New Star Route Schedule.

Santa Fe, June 22.—The postoffice department announces a new schedule of star route service between Hilarie and Chaparrito, San Miguel county. The carrier will from July 1 on, leave Hilarie on Monday and Friday mornings at 8:00 o'clock, and leave Chaparrito at the same hour on Tuesday and Saturday mornings, arriving at his destination at two in the afternoon.

Embalmers' Examination.

Santa Fe, June 22.—The following took the examination today before the State Board of Embalmers in annual session: A. L. Springer of Alamogordo; E. C. Jaeger of Silver City; C. R. Beverleigh, Santa Fe; A. J. Mitchell, Gallup; W. A. North, Albuquerque; J. H. Watt, Santa Fe; Clyde E. McCon, Dawson.

PANAMA LAND COMMISSION FAILS OF AGREEMENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WRITER) Panama, June 22.—The troubles of the Pan-American joint land commission which was provided for in the treaty between the United States and Panama of November 18, 1903, to appraise damages and effect settlement where private lands have been taken in the canal zone for public uses, today reached a crisis resulting in a suspension of the sessions. As a consequence Levi Monroe Rags, one of the American commissioners, will leave the isthmus Thursday for the United States.

It is regarded here as not improbable that an entirely new commission may result from the present rupture. A report of the international differences arising from a divergence of opinion between the Panamanian and the American commission members concerning awards will be forwarded to Washington by William J. Price, American minister to Panama.

NOT FOR MEN ONLY.

Foley Cathartic Tablets are not as instantly demanded by women as by men because this particular cathartic is not so well known among women. Women suffer as much as men do from indigestion and constipation, and they also require this scientific remedy to keep the stomach sweet, the liver active and the bowels regular. Foley Cathartic Tablets are wholesome and thoroughly cleansing; do not gripe or cause nausea. Stout people say this is the one cathartic that takes away that over-full and clogged-up feeling. Sold everywhere.

ART EXHIBIT TO BE HELD IN OLD PALACE TODAY

Last Social Event Until August of Summer School; Many Rare Treasures Loaned by Santa Fe Citizens.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)

Santa Fe, June 22.—From 2 to 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the loan art exhibit and tea, which is the last social event until August of the summer school will take place at the Palace of the Governors. The committee in charge is astonished at the large number of rare articles of art which have been kindly loaned for exhibit. It was found that the reception room is entirely too small to display the lace, the silver, the articles of vertu, portraits on china, intaglios and pictures and therefore the exhibit will fill several of the museum rooms. Some of the objects are so valuable that special guards will be placed over them. Never before has Santa Fe had the opportunity to see such a fine collection.

Tea will be served and a special invitation is extended to the teachers of the county institute, the Masonic visitors, in fact, to all residents and visitors. The floral decorations will be striking and a hearty welcome awaits every caller. It is an opportunity that comes only once in a decade, to see and examine the treasures of so many households. The affair is also in the nature of a farewell to the institute workers and attendants and the men and women of Santa Fe owe it to themselves to speed the visitors and urge them personally to come again, in fact, to make Santa Fe their commercial and social home.

New Mexico's Great Needs.

"New Mexico farms must increase their revenue and they must find a market for their products," declared Miss Edna Ross, in addressing the summer school last evening. "I have seen the apples three layers deep in the orchards of the Mesilla valley and rotting," she declared, "while the Esanacia valley and the mining camps were suffering for lack of fruit." Miss Ross told how El Paso, which is a natural market for New Mexico farms, imports $50,000 worth of farm products each month from Kansas and how in New Mexico many communities get 100 per cent of their dairy products and 90 per cent of their poultry products for eight months a year from Kansas and yet, at the same time, New Mexico farmers complain because of lack of market for their products. The state college, through its extension work, is laying the foundation for the standardization of products, which is necessary before farm products can be marketed profitably. Miss Ross reviewed concisely the aim and program of the extension workers and how they touch every home, especially every farm home.

Mrs. R. F. Asplund, as president of the Federated Women's club of New Mexico, introduced the speakers, and dwelt forcibly upon the fact that the extension work is for the women as well as for the men, how it seeks to relieve the lot of the housewife on the farm from its drudgery and how the organized women of New Mexico are lending aid to this movement.

President Asplund presided over the meeting. Mrs. Mary McFie Lacey had charge of the music, the audience joining with the summer school choruses in the singing of several patriotic songs.

State Geographical Society.

A state geographical society was organized last evening at the Old Palace. Dr. David R. Boyd of the University of New Mexico was elected temporary president and Paul A. F. Walter of Santa Fe, temporary secretary. Alvan N. White, Filadelfo Baca and Robert Asplund were appointed a committee to draft a constitution. The society was organized in response to a call of the United States geological survey and the hydrographic survey for the organization of state geographical societies. In New Mexico, the society will make it its particular duty to preserve Spanish and Indian places and names correctly, to see to it that when new geographical features such as mountain peaks, or new post-offices or other sites are named that consistent nomenclature is followed. The society will also establish a New Mexico geographical library in the Old Palace, where all publications pertaining to New Mexico will be kept, indexed and classified, when official statistics will be made available and from which geographical knowledge regarding New Mexico will be disseminated. The charter membership will be kept open until permanent officers are elected. It is the object to establish branch societies in every county and in every large town as well as at state institutions. In a recent interview, Governor McDonald heartily endorsed the organization of such a society.

New Work by Dr. Radin.

The summer school attendants are especially proud of another publication of one of their instructors, Dr. Paul Radin. His topic, "Literary Aspects of North American Mythology," and treating of such a broad subject in a scholarly way, is very interesting. The monograph is published by the Canadian government and its fifty printed pages give an insight into the Indian character that is charming. There are myths and legends and psychology and not one of the fifteen chapters has a dull line even to the layman.
